

It was dated here and evidently had been sent in by a correspondent:

An article recently published in a local paper brought about the remembrance of a family which had been separated for thirty-six years. The article mentioned an accident in which Jerome Hamilton lost one finger of his right hand in a pulley.

It was an accident which happened in 1897, when Jerome was a boy of three years. He was playing with a pulley and was caught in it. His father, who was a farmer, was with him at the time. The accident was a terrible one, and the family was separated for thirty-six years.

One of the first questions was, "How and when did father die?" and the surprise can be imagined when informed that he was still alive and well.

BADLY HURT IN SAW MILL

Chas. Converse, Superintendent for Brown Brothers Lumber Company Badly Injured Last Thursday.

While adjusting a pulley under one of the machines in the sawmill of Brown Brothers' Lumber Co. last Thursday morning, Charles Converse, the superintendent, was caught in a gear and narrowly escaped losing an arm. As it was he jerked away from the iron clutch as soon as he was caught and managed to pull his arm loose but not before the member had been terribly lacerated. A piece of flesh was torn away which uncovered and laid bare the muscles and bone. Mr. Converse was taken to the hospital at once and the wound carefully dressed. The accident will cause him to be laid up for about a month. The fact that he was not maimed for life is due entirely to his quickness in tearing loose. Instantaneous action was the only thing that saved his arm.

Mr. Converse has acted in the capacity of superintendent in the mill for the past year, prior to that time filling the position of chief engineer.

Clement Flynn, who formerly acted as engineer and millwright for Brown Bros., has taken up Mr. Converse's duties pending the latter's recovery.

Back from Wyoming.

A. S. Pierce returned Friday from Wyoming where he had been for the past month looking after the interests of the Oneida Mining Co. at Laramie. His trip was more extended than he figured on owing to a severe attack of typhoid fever which took hold of him shortly after he reached there. He was laid up for two weeks in a hotel at Denver, Colorado, all the hospitals being filled with patients. He lost forty pounds in weight and gained countenance somewhat thinner than usual.

A Call to Women.

Mrs. A. W. Shelton of this city, Vice-President of the Ninth District, State Federation of Women's Clubs, has sent out a letter to the Women's Clubs in this district, asking that systematic work be done to get out the vote for State Superintendent at the next state election. Her advice should be heeded, the women should organize so that names are properly registered in a few meetings and go to the polls the vote. Every woman in the land is interested in the cause of education and now that they have the chance, let them exercise their right.

That Old Tip A Tree.

A dispatch from Duluth in one of the Minneapolis papers says that G. H. Young, who was out looking timber in 1917, was caught up in a tree by a lot of drunken Indians. They are said to have cut him alone and asked him if he were a Finlander. He said he wasn't and they laughed if he had a battle. Again he was asked if he had any money. G. H. said no and they said that charge also and they laughed if he could climb a tree. He said he couldn't climb a tree and they told him to go up on a Norway standing nearby. He did so and the Indians told him that the tree for three hours, and he helped and dispersed the crowd. G. H. told the story himself at Duluth.

"SOO" TO MOVE DIVISION

A Well Grounded Rumor That Rhinelander Will Soon Have an Important Addition in Numbers.

There is a rumor afloat in the city to the effect that the "Soo" Line officials have determined upon putting their division point at this place. Just how the rumor started can hardly be told, but it came from one who should know. Since the time that an intimation to the effect that such a move was under consideration was made there has been an effort to get at something definite or reliable concerning the facts, but without much success, save the one fact that all the road's employees seem to think the move a likely one. The company's head officials, on the occasion of their recent visit to this city are said to have considered the matter and to have decided to move. There are many reasons advanced for the company making the change. Principal among them is the fact that the road experiences considerable difficulty in retaining train men for service under the present arrangement of divisions. There is also said to be a large expense attendant upon conducting the division business at a place such as Pennington Is.

What such a move would mean to Rhinelander can be easily seen. It would be worth a great deal to the city and would not only bring here a number of highly desirable citizens, but it would add thousands to the pay roll account for Rhinelander's benefit.

The division from the time that the "Soo" road built through here has been the object of eager longing and considerable effort on the part of the city but of late years no great amount of hope has been indulged in that we should ever have it until this latest report was set in motion by one who ought to know all about such matters. That it should now come unsolicited and without effort seems strange, but it looks as if such was to be the case. It will be welcome and the "Soo" line will find that people of the city are appreciative of such favors.

"The Eleventh Hour"

The "Eleventh Hour" was presented here last night to a large audience. The play abounded with impossible situations. The heavy villain and his woman accomplice in the play were caught red handed several times and were most beautifully turned down but both would hold up serenely in the next act and keep right at their mannaes before the eyes of all. Retribution followed finally but it was long past due. The German comedian wasn't cut out for his part and set at variance all the Teutonic characters that have been impersonated here. The stage setting in the last act was pleasing to the eye and the way the brace-brace suffered in the fight that was pulled off evidently caused many to imagine that it was on the square. The remarkable furniture, however, was made to fall and there was no damage done.

Death Takes a Little Girl Home.

After an illness of three days' duration, Gertrude Mahel, the seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Jennings, passed away at an early hour last Friday morning. Her illness was of a peculiar nature and she attended school up to a few days before her death. She was the youngest child in the family and her sad death is keenly felt. The funeral was held Sunday afternoon from St. Mary's church, Rev. Fr. Schmitz officiating. The little body was laid to rest in St. Mary's cemetery. Gertrude attended St. Mary's school and was an exceptionally bright child for her age. She was a favorite with teachers and scholars alike. The pupils of the school as a token of respect to their departed friend followed the remains to the grave.

Death of Jay Batolph.

Ivy, the nine year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Batolph, living near the fair grounds, died Monday afternoon after an illness almost dating back to her birth. Death resulted from cancer, and contrary to the usual custom, came to the sufferer without pain. The funeral was held Tuesday.

Calts in Union Services.

The members of the Baptist, Methodist, Congregational and Free Methodist churches united in a union service at the Congregational church last Sunday evening. It was the third of a series and the address was delivered by Rev. Myers, the Baptist pastor. He spoke on the brotherhood of man and lamented the fact that secret societies and even the churches were narrow in their views and entered rather to the few than the many. He thought that there should be an universal feeling of kindness between men regardless of sect or church, that all men should be brethren in the generally accepted sense of the term. The address was listened to with interest by a large congregation. The last of the series of union services will be held in the M. E. church next Sunday night, Rev. Wolfe of the Free Methodist church will deliver the address.

Don't fail to be there. You will miss it if you do. At the Grand opera house Wednesday evening, Sept. 21.

SEVENTH ANNUAL FAIR

Oneida County's Annual Celebration is Now On in Full Blast—Exhibits Show Progress in Agriculture.

Rhinelander's fair is now on in full blast and the people who have anxiously awaited the opening of the big gates at the grounds are not taking in the sights and are congratulating themselves that this county is progressing along the present line.

For six years the society has endeavored to give an exhibit that would reflect credit on our farms and each year has endeavored to make the exhibition better and more productive of good to all concerned.

Tuesday of this week was scheduled as the opening day, and exhibits in the different lines kept pouring in and kept the committee busy. The line of vegetables this year greatly exceeds the showing made any previous year. The increase in our farming population has been plainly noticeable and the progress along lines of agriculture is evidenced to a marked degree.

When the first fair was held the showing made of squash, cucumbers and cabbage simply caused the eyes of the fair patrons to open with amazement. It was not supposed that a new county could make the showing that was made, but this one did.

Rain, yesterday, prevented the races from coming off and the fair directors caused bills to be distributed stating that the fair would be postponed until today. Arrangements were made to have the regular schedule of races pulled off in the order as advertised excepting that the days will be Thursday, Friday and Saturday, instead of Wednesday, Thursday and Friday as published.

As The New North goes to press too early to declare the result in the race events a full report will be published in next week's issue.

Wedge Wins on a Taut.

The ten round go last night at Hillerman's park, between "Kid" Wedge of this city, and Robert J. Bomberg, of Cincinnati, Ohio, was decided by Referee James Murphy in favor of Wedge who got the decision on a foul in the last half of the fifth round.

Reports from those who witnessed the contest would indicate that Wedge did most of the work and showed up well. His opponent clearly demonstrated that he was a good man and in a rough and tumble fight would undoubtedly have had the best of it.

The attendance was fair, considering the fact that the place of meeting had to be changed at the last minute from the New Grand opera house, where it had been advertised to come off, to the park.

"On the Stroke of 12"

"On the Stroke of 12" was presented here for the first time Tuesday night to an audience of fair size. The company was above the average that appears here and gave good satisfaction to those in attendance. There was plenty of comedy running through the play. Harry First in his character of Moss Levi, the Jewish money lender, easily taking the lead. Mr. First impersonated the character in a first-class manner, his work being the best in that particular line seen on the stage. The play was of the exciting variety throughout and the company was made up of capable people.

Holten Bros. "Denver Express."

Vast audiences have attended performances of "The Denver Express" in time past, and as the breezy little small boy still continues to rejoice at the sight of the picturesque Indians employed in this clever melodrama, a packed house is a foregone conclusion. Aside from this, few melodramas since the advent of "The Silver King" have given such general satisfaction to the lower part of the house, and very few theater goers who know and enjoy clever comedy can afford to miss the Holten Bros. production which appears at the opera house here Friday evening, Sept. 19.

The production is heralded as being better, stronger, and brighter than ever before and it was good at first.

Ants at Vaccination.

American Medicine, one of the leading journals devoted to medicine and surgery, in its issue of last week published reports regarding the prevalence of smallpox in the cities. The reports show pretty clearly that the anti-vaccination theory is wrong. In the city of Cleveland, Ohio, a mandate was issued last March by the health commissioner to the effect that vaccination would no longer be compulsory but that work along sanitary lines would be vigorously prosecuted. The alleys, streets and dwellings were thoroughly cleaned and disinfected as a result of the ruling. The reports collected monthly showed Cleveland to have 75 cases of smallpox the past month, sixty-five cases more than exists in any city in the Union. It is understood that the health commissioner has revoked his order and is again using the vaccine needles as of yore.

Gerry E. Browne left Saturday night for Highland Park, Ill., where he will attend the Northwestern Military Academy. The institution is located within a few miles of Chicago.

Ice Abbott left last Thursday for the state of Idaho, where he will be mainly permanently providing for his final employment. His father has been in that section for over a year.

Dress does not make the person. Nor does a clean exterior indicate a clean interior. To be well all organs of the body must work in harmony. Rocky Mountain Tea does the work.

Men are again arriving in the city from all parts of the state for the purpose of hiring out to the logging contractors for the winter. Though it is as yet early in the season the train is bringing full quotas of "huber jacks" with their proverbial "keys."

Mrs. Dr. Melnhoe, Mrs. N. T. Balltulin and the two young sons of C. H.
partly of Kaukauna made up a

Whitney, is down from Tomahawk this week to attend the fair. He reports that George has a nice position

When once liberated within your system, it produces a most wonderful effect. It's worth one's last dollar to feel the pleasure of life that comes by taking Rocky Mountain Tea.

J. J. Keardon.

James McElrone spent the week at his home here. He has been making tour of the Wisconsin fair circuit assisting Wm. Lawlis in the care of Emma Mack, the well known littler trotter. The boys leave the last day of the week for New London. From there they go to Shawano and other northern cities.

R. F. Tompkins and Paul Browne returned Friday morning from a two weeks' trip to the Pacific coast. It was Mr. Tompkin's first trip to that section and he is not at all favorably impressed with the country. While there they met a large number of Wisconsin people who would beglad to come back here. The cost of living in Washington is overrun with black eggs and chickens, who keep on the alert for the unsuspecting stranger.

G. K. Ker was up on Pelican Lake Tuesday on business. Mr. Keeler is owner of that fine farm. In the company and addition to his land holdings embarks a first class summer resort on the banks of the lake which is well filled with guests during the summer months. He has accommodations for over thirty people at his place, which is located across the lake from the Beach Hotel. Mr. Keeler attended the state fair at Milwaukee this year and expressed himself as being well pleased with the exhibits.

A Card of Thanks.

We wish to sincerely thank Rev. Fr. Schmitt, the sisters and pupils of St. Mary's school and the many friends who so kindly assisted us in our sorrow and bereavement.
